

Internal Medicine Residents 2017-2018

PGY – 4

Jasleen Minhas, MD

Medical School: Dr. D.Y. Patil Medical College, India.

About me: I was born and raised in Mumbai prior to attending medical school in a relatively small town in India before moving to join my family in NJ. Prior to starting residency, I had the exciting opportunity to engage in care coordination for CHF patients, and participate in Physician Quality Reporting Services for a medical group in Bronx, NY. I am interested in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine. I am currently engaged in research with the Genome COPD researchers at Brigham and Women's Hospital.

Personal Interests: Traveling, playing badminton, reading, and food.

PGY-3

Oluchi Dike, MD

Medical School: Ebonyi State University College of Health Science, Nigeria

About me: I grew up in Nigeria and have four siblings. I am married to my wonderful husband and have two beautiful children. I am interested in general internal medicine but also enjoy learning specifically about rheumatology and endocrinology.

Personal Interests: Spending time with my family, traveling and visiting historical places, my top two being The Great Wall of China and The Taj Mahal. I would like to visit Bora Bora and Polynesia one day.

Chudamani Giri, MD

Medical School: Tribhuvan University

About me: I grew up in western part of rural Nepal and did my schooling there. My upbringing in rural Nepal has helped me to be able to appreciate all the things that I have in my life. I am look forward to becoming a well-rounded clinician no matter what career path in internal medicine I choose.

Personal Interests: Watching out of the window when it is raining heavily, hanging out with friends, listening to the radio, physical fitness.

Felipe Naranjo Sanchez, MD

Medical School: Pontifica University Catolica del Ecuador, Ecuador

About me: I am from Ambato, Ecuador. I like to spend time with my family and friends. I am interested in Nephrology.

Personal interests: Aside from spending time with family and friends, I enjoy soccer, reading (especially biographies), and Latin American history.

Vinit Oommen, MD

Medical School: Pecs Orvostudományi Egyetem, Hungary

About me: I grew up in Mumbai, India and moved to the United States for middle school and high school. I went abroad for medical school to Hungary and spent a semester in London. I am interested in general internal medicine and also enjoy learning about neuroimaging, neuroplasticity, the gut microbiome, and cardiac MRI.

Personal interests: Drawing, painting, traveling, running, trying new foods

Mina Ragheb, MD

Medical School: Ross University, School of Medicine, Dominica, West Indies

About me: I was born in Egypt and moved to the United States when I was 12. I have been living California ever since. I enjoy spending time with my family and friends. My clinical interests lie in internal medicine.

Personal interests: Music, playing tabla, working out, cuisine.

Ashish Rai, MD

Medical School: Dr. D.Y. Patil Medical College, India

About me: I am originally from a small town in India called Ranchi. I attended medical school in Mumbai and moved to New York with my wife in 2014 who is a pediatrics resident. I am interested in learning about critical care, neurology, and endocrinology.

Personal interests: Traveling and food (includes cooking and of course, eating)

PGY-2

Yahya Ahmad, MD

Medical School: King Edward Medical University, Lahore, Pakistan.

About me: I was born in Saudi Arabia, raised in Lahore, Pakistan. I like outdoor activities, especially enjoy watching and playing sports especially tennis, big Federer fan, even now.

Clinical Interests: I want myself to be a good well rounded physician. I am interested in Cardiology and would love to be an Interventional cardiologist one day.

Hobbies: Watching tennis, Go-karting, Playing squash and table tennis, video direction, trying out new restaurants, following current affairs

Kanwal Anwar, MD

Medical School: University Medical & Dental College, Pakistan

About me: I spent most of my childhood in Indonesia and later grew up in Pakistan. I love reading novels; some of my favorite series include Harry Potter and Lord of the Rings. Also, I'm a Doctor Who fan.

Clinical Interests: Endocrinology, Rheumatology

Personal Interests: Baking, Traveling, Photography, Reading

David Cardona, MD.

Medical School: Universidad de Monterrey (UEM), Mexico

About me: I grew up in Monterrey, Mexico. I like to travel and to meet people from different cultural backgrounds.

Clinical Interests: Global health and humanitarian medicine

Personal Interests: Traveling, playing sports specially soccer.

Samira Reyes Dassum, MD

Medical School: Universidad San Francisco de Quito (Quito, Ecuador)

About me: I grew up in Quito, Ecuador. I attended an American International school so I was fortunate enough to make friends from all over the world.

Clinical Interests: I am interested in Internal Medicine, hospitalist medicine, Infectious Disease and Endocrinology.

Personal Interests: In my free time I enjoy spending time with my family, friends and two cats. I enjoy indulging in cuisines from all over the world and trying to recreate them. I love to travel; my latest journey was to Spain, Italy and Germany. I have recently started my own herb garden.

Ahmed Elantably, MD

Medical School: Cairo University, Egypt

About me: I grew up in Cairo, Egypt. Love traveling and exploring other cultures.

Clinical interest: Radiology

Personal Interests: Documentaries, playing soccer, fishing, cooking

Tong Wu, MD

Medical School: Ross University School of Medicine

About me: I was born in China and grew up in Japan and Canada. I am a trilingual fluent in Mandarin Chinese and Japanese.

Clinical Interests: Cardiology, preventive medicine

Personal Interests: Basketball, badminton, table tennis, swimming, travelling, driving, watching movies

PGY-1

Adam Matos, DO

About me: I am a Massachusetts native; born and raised in Lawrence MA by Portuguese immigrants. I completed all of my schooling in New England, making sure to stay close to family and friends. I developed a deep interest in medicine and a passion for patient care at a young age as I worked as a junior-technician at a very busy trauma center when I was 16 years old. After 14 years of aggressive pursuit, I graduated in 2017 from the UNE COM.

My clinical interests include hospital medicine, addiction medicine, and primary care. I hope to eventually develop a unique model of practice that will allow me to pursue all of my interests and provide excellent care across both inpatient and outpatient settings.

When I'm not working in the wards, I can be found spending my spare time as an automotive mechanic, fishing on my kayak in local lakes and rivers, and restoring/repurposing furniture.

Jose Mena, MD

Medical School: Universidad Internacional del Ecuador

About me: I am from Quito, Ecuador. Before starting residency I had the opportunity to teach pharmacology and physiology at my medical school. I really like to play soccer and spend quality time with my family.

Clinical Interests: nephrology, rheumatology, ID.

Personal Interests: soccer, politics, watching movies, grilling with friends.

David Park, MD

Medical School: Boston University School of Medicine

About me: I was born and raised in New York, went to Boston University for undergrad and medical school. I will be going into PM&R starting next year at Tufts University.

Clinical Interests: Pediatric rehabilitation, sports rehabilitation, and the combination of medicine and technology to improve healthcare delivery.

Personal Interests: Cooking, guitar, singing, running.

Yunus Emre Tarhan, MD

Medical School: Istanbul University Cerrahpasa Medical Faculty

About me: I was born and raised in Turkey. After my medical school, I decided to pursue translational research in the field of Hematology and Oncology. I worked with world renowned scientist Dr. Yusuke Nakamura for more than 2 years. Now, with all the research experiences I have, I am going to integrate my knowledge to find solutions to intricate problems in clinical settings.

Clinical Interests: Hematology and Oncology or Rheumatology

Personal Interests: Soccer, traveling, Big fan of Besiktas

Sohaib Ansari, MD

About me: Originally from a small town in Pakistan, I moved to the US after completing my medical school. I had the fantastic experience of working in Endocrinology at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia before starting my residency as part of the North Shore Physicians group at NSMC.

Clinical Interests: General Internal Medicine / Hematology & Oncology.

Personal Interests: Spending time with my family, Writing, Squash, Xbox / PlayStation.

Ramy Nakhla, MD

Medical Education: I graduated from Ain Shams University School of Medicine in 2013 and successfully completed one year of general surgery as a civilian doctor while serving in the Egyptian Military.

About me: I spent five years on the national volleyball team in Egypt where I learned what it means to be a team player. Studying and training in a medical school in a third world country has established in me a strong foundation in work ethic; an effort that will be put to the test during my categorical residency here. I am honored and thankful to have been chosen to work among such talented doctors at NSMC; an opportunity to learn Medicine from a different perspective and further build my career among the best of the best. This is an excellent chance to absorb, like a sponge, every bit of information and experience. While I hope to learn from others, I hope to also help my future colleagues learn throughout this journey.

Personal Interests: Volleyball, traveling, playing guitar and Pilates.

Yusef Esparza Monzavi, MD

Medical School: Pontifica University Catolica del Ecuador, Ecuador

About me: I grew up in Quito, Ecuador, but I was raised in a Persian culture. I come from a family where my parents and brother are doctors. I love to travel and spend time with my family and my two little dogs.

Clinical interest: Gastroenterology, Neurology, and cardiology.

Personal Interest: Playing soccer, watching movies, working out, and spending time with my dogs.

Aye Mon (Julia) Win, DO

About me: I grew up in the suburbs of Chicago, went to a liberal arts college in Wisconsin, then to medical school at the University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine. I have fallen in love with the east coast and am so happy to be spending a year at North Shore before I return to my roots for PM&R residency.

Clinical interests: physical medicine and rehabilitation (particularly brain injury), maximizing function, osteopathic manipulation, patient empowerment

Personal interests: yoga, craft beer, laughing as much as possible

Adeyinka Adejumo, MD

About me:

After growing up and attending medical school in the Southwestern part of Nigeria, I completed a year of voluntary medical service as a youth corp., where as the only physician within a 5-mile radius, I was privileged to provide life-saving procedures to the populace. I then came over to the US to get some experience in translational medicine.

Clinical Interests:

I am excited to be getting a comprehensive training across every discipline of internal medicine at NSMC. With the recent rise in the decriminalization of marijuana use across the U.S., I enjoy learning about the clinical implications, outcomes, diseases, and management of individuals with excessive cannabis use across every branch of medicine.

Personal Interests:

Although I enjoy watching and analyzing soccer matches, relaxing at the beach, and hanging out with friends, nothing gives me more joy than spending time with my family.

Imaobong Chinedozi, MD

About me: I'm originally from Nigeria but came to the U.S. at 3yrs of age. I went to undergraduate and medical school at East Tennessee State University. I have an interest in hospital administration and improving resource utilization so I also received an MPH in Health Administration and Policy.

Clinical Interest: Anesthesiology and possibly Critical Care or Pediatric fellowship.

Personal Interests: I have an infant which takes quite a bit of my time. I also love to play rugby and powerlifting whenever I get the chance.